

Overview

RCM certified professionals have the expertise needed to work with predominate translator choices for your EDI eCommerce implementation. Whether you wish to leverage your current translator or are looking at translator alternatives, you can utilize RCM's knowledge to make the best decision for your organization. We understand that EDI is mission critical to your business. That is why RCM played an active role in the design and development of QAD's EDI eCommerce module and has embraced the QAD EDI eCommerce solution, providing a competitive advantage to our customers.

Our proven EDI implementation methodology can be utilized whether you are implementing EDI with QAD for the first time or looking to transition from a legacy EDI product. RCM has experience in providing either full service EDI implementation support or a training and guidance approach, which is a joint effort between RCM and your organization.

“RCM played an active role in the design and development of the QAD Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) module.”

RCM has extensive EDI implementation and training experience in the QAD user community. RCM has assisted numerous QAD customers in the automotive, consumer product, food and beverage, life sciences and industrial industries with implementation since the 1999 release of the EDI eCommerce product.
